

MODERN SLAVERY STATEMENT

Slavery still exists and we refuse to ignore it. In the UK, certain commercial organisations must publish an annual statement setting out the steps they take to prevent modern slavery in their business and their supply chains. This is a requirement under Section 54 (Transparency in Supply Chains) of the Modern Slavery Act 2015.

As an SME, Bulien have no such legal requirement.

However, we feel obliged to state our own commitment to ending modern slavery in all its forms, in all parts of our own organisation and supply chain. Links to the modern slavery statements of our supply chain can be seen below:

Alteryx

<https://cdn.alteryx.com/-/media/project/alteryx/files/alteryx-modern-slavery-act-transparency-statement-2021.pdf?rev=1591980d0dc64b6a96e4be128c5e00df>

DataRobot

<https://datarobot.com>

Amazon Web Services

<https://s3.eu-west-2.amazonaws.com/nmcn/uploads/2021/01/nmcn-Modern-Slavery-Statement-2021.pdf>

Microsoft

<https://www.microsoft.com/en-gb/about/regulatory-reporting/>

Qlik

<https://www.qlik.com/us/legal/uk-compliance>

Snowflake

<https://www.snowflake.com/legal/anti-human-trafficking-policy/>

Signed,

David Westwood, Partner, Bulien LLP, May 2025